Bay Creek and French Broad Crossing Recognized in ideal-LIVING's
"Top 100 Planned Communities"

(ALPHARETTA, Ga.) – Preserve Communities, a leader in thoughtful real estate development, is pleased to announce that French Broad Crossing and Bay Creek have been recognized by national resort and lifestyle publication ideal-LIVING Magazine in its 'Best Places to Live' summer issue. Both communities are honored on 'The Top 100 Planned Communities' list which highlights communities that feature open spaces, support a healthy, active lifestyle, and have a real sense of community.

"Each year we survey our readers to determine the most popular destinations and amenities. We've researched communities from our readers' most-desired areas based on survey results. The destinations featured in this special issue are representative of those desires," says Kelly Godbey, ideal-LIVING editor.

French Broad Crossing is an adventure-centric, conservation-minded community with engaging homeowner programming. "In a world of 'sameness,' we stand apart. The breathtaking backdrop of the Blue Ridge Mountains, along with our nature-based amenities, and robust lifestyle programming provides ample opportunity for exploration and enjoyment. We've thoughtfully incorporated our foundational pillars into our programming, promoting social interaction, mindfulness, learning, and wellness," remarks Preserve Communities CEO and Founder Jack Fisher.

Set on Virginia's Cape, Bay Creek is a master-planned community and resort that brings families together to live their best life through a connection with its coastal landscape, nature, state-of-the-art amenities and active lifestyle programming. "We've set aside a 350-acre nature preserve with the well-being of the land and our residents in mind. And that's just the beginning," says Fisher excitedly, referencing the plans for Bay Creek's Base Camp which is already starting to come to life.
